

“I am an Animal Scientist because I have a passion for reproductive physiology. As a reproductive physiologist, I am contributing to reproductive efficiency in livestock and helping with the growing demand for food around the world.”

- Kelsey Quinn
New Mexico State University