

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF ANIMAL SCIENCE

Animal Management Award

Name of Award: The American Society of Animal Science Award in Animal Management.

Nature of Award: A specified monetary award and a plaque.

Purpose: To stimulate research excellence in biological or production management and to recognize those who have made significant contributions to production management.

Eligibility for Nomination:

- Nominees shall have conducted basic or applied research in animal behavior, environmental science, economics or other biological or production management. Publications in the 10 years immediately preceding the year of recognition will be eligible for consideration, or
- Nominees shall have made significant contributions to production management, including contributions to identifying and alleviating world problems in animal production.

Dossier must include the following materials:

- CV/Biography of the nominee.
- Summary statement (not to exceed 8000 characters and spaces) describing the importance of the nominee's contributions to the livestock industry.
- List of the nominee's research publications for the previous 10-year period.
- Citation for printing and reading (not to exceed 1000 characters and spaces).
- Photo of nominee (photo will only be used in the awards program and will not be visible to the award review committee).