

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF ANIMAL SCIENCE

Fellow Awards

Name of Award: Fellow of the American Society of Animal Science.

Nature of Award: A plaque.

Purpose: To recognize distinguished service to animal science and the livestock industry over a long period of time.

Eligibility for Nomination: Persons who have rendered very distinguished service to the animal industry and/or to the American Society of Animal Science and had continuous membership in the Society for a minimum of twenty-five (25) years, and who are in good standing in the Society, are eligible.

Selection: Fellows are nominated in one of the five following categories: Administration, Extension, Industry, Research or Teaching. There will be at least one Fellow awarded in each category unless the committee deems that there are no deserving candidates nominated in a specific category. There will be a maximum of one Administration and no more than two per other category awarded each year.

Dossier must include the following materials:

- Completed on-line nomination that indicates for which of the five categories (Administration, Extension, Industry, Research, or Teaching) the person is nominated.
- CV/Biography of the nominee.
- Summary statement (not to exceed 8000 characters and spaces) describing the importance of the nominee's contributions to the livestock industry.
- Citation for printing and reading (not to exceed 1000 characters and spaces).
- Photo of nominee (photo will only be used in the awards program and will not be visible to the award review committee).
