

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF ANIMAL SCIENCE

Wettemann Graduate Scholar in Physiology Award

Name of Award: Wettemann Graduate Scholar in Physiology Award.

Nature of Award: A monetary award and plaque.

Purpose: To recognize achievement of young scholars working in the research areas of physiology, endocrinology, and/or reproduction.

Eligibility for Nomination: Each nomination would submit a scientific abstract and include:

- CV/Biography of the nominee.
- Letter of nomination from mentor.
- Present a 30-minute presentation at the Annual Meeting highlighting their work. Applicants must submit an oral presentation at the ASAS Annual Meeting prior to the respective abstract submission and awards deadline, whichever deadline comes first. Applicants that have not completed the abstract submission will be removed from consideration for the award.